

Adopted January 2006

POLICY ON HEALTH AND SAFETY – STATEMENT

Logo places a great importance on the health, safety and welfare of its staff, acknowledging its responsibility as an employer to, so far as is reasonably practicable, provide a safe and healthy work place and working environment. The importance of extending that protection appropriately to visitors is also recognised.

Logo is committed to the continued development of a positive safety culture where health and safety objectives are regarded by all as being aligned with the other goals of Logo.

Logo accepts its obligation under the Health and Safety at Work Act 1974 and other associated regulations to implement all reasonably practicable measures to reduce workplace risks. To this end, progressive health and safety improvements will be actively sought to achieve full compliance with legislation.

Logo also accepts that in order to achieve a satisfactory standard of health and safety performance, there will be resource implications in terms of staff training which it will, so far as is reasonably practicable, undertake to adequately resource, if necessary on a planned basis.

In order to effectively manage health and safety, an understanding of risks and how to control them must be brought about through good management and staff communication.

To assist in achieving its objectives, it is the duty of all employees to act responsibly regarding health and safety matters, to do everything practicable to prevent injury to themselves or others and to co-operate fully in implementing health and safety initiatives. Any health and safety concerns should be brought immediately to the attention of a Company Director for action.

In accordance with its statutory duty, Logo will also undertake to review and revise this health and safety policy, and associated arrangements, bi-annually or as appropriate in order to keep abreast of legislative and organisational changes. Any changes in this policy will be brought to the attention of all employees.
